ABOUT YOUR MONEY SORTED

ABOUT MY AUDIENCE

Your Money Sorted is a personal finance blog and financial coaching business, focusing on empowering UK based professional women to take control of their financial situation.

I aim to help them reduce stress and improve mental wellbeing, through improving their finances. There is a focus on money mindset, learning how use money more effectively and preparing for the future, in order to live a life that is happier, healthier and wealthier.

Excite. Educate. Empower.

My audience is primarily UK based professional females, aged between 35-55, who are looking to improve their financial situation. Many are teachers, concerned about the impact of the rising retirement age on their future.

They are interested in improving financial security, and preparing for retirement more effectively. They are also keen to increase the amount of money they have for the fun things in life, such as holidays and spending time with family and friends.

ABOUT ME

I am Eileen, in my late 40s, living in gorgeous South West Scotland, with my husband and 3 teenage kids.

I have been teaching for 26 years, but due to part-time working, my pension will not allow me to achieve my dream of retiring early and travelling the world. Teaching until my late 60s didn't appeal, so I looked for other options and Your Money Sorted was born.

I adore financial coaching and blogging, and love how I can empower other women to take control of their lives and create a life that makes them happy.

I offer sponsored postings, guest posting, advertising and social media campaigns, to carefully selected partners, whose values fit with my aim of improving the financial life of my followers. Please email me on info@yourmoneysorted.co.uk for details of my rates.

Please note that all sponsored posts will contain a disclosure, to comply with ASA guidelines. This is not open to negotiation.
